Resilience: The Biology of Stress & the Science of Hope
Presented By: Caitlin Tully, Training and Development Supervisor

“The child may not remember but the body remembers.” This engaging workshop features a screening of a documentary, Resilience: The Biology of Stress & the Science of Hope, which delves into the science of Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs). The film chronicles the birth of a new movement among pediatricians, therapists, educators and communities, who are using cutting-edge brain science to disrupt cycles of violence, addiction and disease. Following the screening, there will be an interactive discussion about what ACEs mean for PREP in Ohio.

Caitlin Tully is a Training and Development Supervisor with The Center for Family Safety and Healing in Columbus, Ohio. She currently coordinates It’s Abuse, a relationship abuse awareness campaign. The goals of It’s Abuse are to raise awareness among students of the warning signs of abuse, to educate students about maintaining healthy relationships, and to generate awareness of campus and community resources. In addition, she is a certified trainer of the Safe Dates program through the Hazelden Foundation as well as an authorized facilitator of the Stewards of Children training for Darkness to Light.
